

Monday

On the first day of this amazing journey we crossed the English Channel by ferry. There we guessed what this week and our host family would be like. As we will see, we guessed wrong. So, when we got on land, we went straight to Canterbury. There a cool guide told us the stories of the pilgrims of Canterbury. After this we could have a nice shopping trip where we bought some funny stuff like pink calculators and very delicious chocolate.

At 3 pm it was time to meet the city where we would be for the next days. We visited Eltham Park and its beautiful outdoor grounds. It was enough time to walk around and buy some nice things again like those huge lollipops.

Back at the parking spot of our bus, it was the time to be picked up by the host families. We were very excited to meet them and see how they would be. Our host mom, Ronja's, Véro's and mine, Kemi, drove us to her flat at 21 Deal Court, Thamestead SE 2, where she lives with her twin daughters. We had the honor to sleep in their beds and went there very early due to the lack of sleep from last night.
